

Productivity: verb-type range diverges from token frequency

Values labelled at each point are absolute (token frequency per 100k words; count of unique verb types). Lines show growth indexed to the beginner level so the two measures share a scale.